These outstanding Chicago Public School elementary teachers have received Chicago Foundation for Education, (CFE) grants recognizing them for their commitment to bringing innovative, hands-on projects to their classrooms. This year 32,948 students will benefit from their dedication and creativity.

The Chicago Foundation for Education, (CFE) a volunteer driven, non-profit organization founded by Joyce Rumsfeld, is dedicated to improving the educational experiences of Chicago's public elementary school children by the educators who serve, guide, and teach them. CFE programs have encouraged curricular innovation, supported teacher-led professional development, and promoted teacher leadership to improve student learning in more than 23,550 classrooms since 1985.
